

Appalachian Therapeutic Riding Center

Scholarship Information and Policy

ATRC is a non-profit therapeutic horseback riding center whose board of directors is committed to providing services to all who need them. Donations, grants, and program fees support the center. We strive to raise enough scholarship money to provide aid to all who qualify. Many riders receive partial scholarships. Families are expected to contribute according to their means. ATRC's board in no way wants to prohibit anyone from riding due to cost.

Each rider costs ATRC $200.00 per eight-week session. Most riders have received a scholarship of $100.00 in the past. These scholarships are still available but must be applied for.

Please fill out the scholarship application by the stated date prior to either the spring or fall session. All applications will be considered by the board and scholarships granted according to need and available funds. Late applications may not be accepted as all funding may have been distributed.

Finished applications can either be mailed to:
